

Centum Learning organizes its national offsite for its Sales & Distribution training teams

Bhopal, November 11-12, 2011: Centum Learning, a Bharti associate company and a leader in the training and development space organized its annual national offsite for its Sales and Distribution training teams on November 11-12, 2011 in Bhopal.

This national offsite that takes place annually is used to build team camaraderie and equip the team with knowledge to strive for excellence, it ensures that all the team members across the board are completely aligned with the overall goal of the organization.

Trainers and team-members from across the nation converge at one location, which along with developing various skills within the teams also aims at infusing cultural integrity through a cross flow of cultural activity, reinforcing Centum Learning's vision through dialogue with the top management and aligning its team dynamics through team building activities and sporting events.

Speaking on the occasion, Sanjeev Duggal, CEO & Executive Director, Centum Learning said, "As a leader in the training and skills development space, we are poised at a point of significant growth. Workshops and offsites such as these act as a catalyst to spur the pace of that growth and ensure that everyone stays aligned with the company's vision. Apart from the overall corporate strategy, these platforms present an opportunity to appreciate the cultural diversity and the richness of minds that comprise our organisation."

The offsite at Bhopal was graced by the presence of not just members of the senior management team but also in gracing this meet with their presence were the CEO, HR head and Zonal Business Manager of one of India's leading telecom operators. This in itself is a testimonial to the strength of the five year relationship that we share with the client and further highlights the positive impact the company has made to the client's overall strategic direction and business impact.

These offsites are a critical part of Centum Learning's event calendar since they have historically had a notable impact towards accelerating the company's advance towards its goal of skilling and empowering a sizable portion of India's youth. At the national meet, the management went the distance to ensure that no stone was left unturned, when it came to interacting with other employees on a one-to-one basis and the meet was concluded successfully with much fanfare.
